Military Leaders Discuss Unification In Western Europe

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
London, Aug. 3. (P)—American and British military leaders met today to talk over plans for speedy unification of western Europe's armed forces under the Atlantic pact.

Responsible officials said the U. S. joint chiefs of staff want Britain and other pact partners to promise prompt, large scale military unity in a common defense program.

The U. S. military staff chiefs—Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Air Force Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Navy Adm. Louis E. Denfeld—arrived last night from Germany for two days of conferences in London before going to Paris late Thursday.

Admiral Denfeld told newsmen the British and Americans were considering how the 12-nation Atlantic alliance would absorb the military staff already set up by the five-nation western European union. Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg last year established a joint military committee headed by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Reluctance Reported
Well informed sources here said the U. S. chiefs of staff want the five western union powers to merge their forces and defense resources into a tightly-knit Atlantic pact framework.

Some degree of reluctance against such a full-scale merger has been unofficially reported among the western union partners.

The informants said the U. S. military chiefs hope to get an agreement on unification to allay any doubt among members of the U. S. congress that the Atlantic treaty partners might not pull together as a team in case of aggression.

Denfeld, Bradley and Vandenberg have carefully and specifically said their current tour does not include discussion of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 arms aid program because it is still being debated by congress. But other officials here feel that failure to agree on unification would jeopardize congressional approval of armaments aid.

Dewey Takes Steps To Beat Recession

Public Works Speeded To Spend $575,000,000

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3. (P)—Governor Dewey today ordered a speed-up in the state's $575,000,000 public works program to cope with "recession" unemployment.

He directed the public works department to give top priority to construction projects in areas "hardest hit" by increasing joblessness.

Dewey's action came with his release of the first report by his recently appointed "watchdog" committee on employment and unemployment conditions.

The committee, comprising members of the Dewey cabinet, said unemployment was "a serious but not alarming problem" in the state. It recommended autumn "acceleration" of the state's "already high-gear" program of public works.

"Our public works program," Dewey said, "is the first line in our attack against recession."

"We have a reserve of public construction ready to go and, I am happy to report, have the money in the bank to pay for it."

Three-Way Split Delays Choice Of G. O. P. Chairman

By JACK BELL
Washington, Aug. 3. (P)—A three-way split in the Republican national committee cast doubt today on its choice of a new chairman. The election is set for tomorrow.

Backers of Guy George Gabrielson, New Jersey member, were claiming a majority of the 103 votes that might be cast. (There are two vacancies on the 105-member group.)

Critics of the old guard contingent supporting Gabrielson disputed this claim.

They added that any chairman who is chosen by fewer than 80 votes will face the same kind of committee dissension that eventually forced out Chairman Hugh Scott after he won a confidence test last January by a 54 to 50 margin. Scott said he will turn in his resignation tomorrow.

As a compromise candidate, some western delegates were backing A. T. "Bert" Howard, Nebraska state chairman, who has the support of Senators Wherry and Butler and other Nebraska Republicans in congress. Howard also had the backing of some members who have been critical of Scott's administration.

The Nebraska state chairman was an early supporter of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the 1948 campaign but friends de-

Gov. Williams Meets With Commission On Mackinac Island

Lansing, Aug. 3. (P)—Governor Williams today called a meeting of the Mackinac Island Park commission at the island Sunday afternoon.

He said it was "for routine purposes" and that he would attend. This will be the first meeting for the three Democratic members appointed last week. These three votes will balance off the votes of the three Republicans remaining on the commission.

Attorney General Stephen J. Roth has been asked for an opinion on the governor's right to vote as an ex-officio member, but no statement had been made by the attorney general's office.

Filmdom Bachelor Jimmy Stewart To Wed Divorcee, 31

Santa Monica, Calif., Aug. 3. (P)—Grieving bachelor Jimmy Stewart, still wearing makeup from his morning's work before the cameras, made his wedding plans official by appearing at the marriage license bureau with his divorcee-fiancee, Gloria Hatrick McLean.

McLean, ex-model and former wife of Edward M. McLean Jr. of Washington, gave her age yesterday as 31. Stewart said he was 41, and that this was his first venture into matrimony.

They'll be married August 9, at the Brentwood Presbyterian church.

icted him now as unpledged to any possible 1952 presidential candidacy.

However, the majority of western committee members hadn't settled on any candidate. Their chief concern seemed to be prevent Gabrielson, an easterner, from rounding out the party leadership positions that are nearly all in eastern hands.

The eastern delegates were split among those supporting Gabrielson and the New York and Pennsylvania members, representing the Dewey viewpoint, who oppose Gabrielson but haven't finally settled on a candidate of their own.

Thus the three factions—one western and two eastern—seemed to have reached a temporary stalemate.

Java And Sumatra End Armed Conflict

Indonesians Sign Peace Terms With Dutch

Batavia, Java, Aug. 3. (P)—The Dutch and Indonesian republicans formally ended their armed conflict today and issued cease-fire orders to local military commanders in Java and Sumatra.

The cease-fire proclamation is to become effective in Java at midnight local time next Wednesday, August 10, and in Sumatra at midnight Sunday, Aug. 14.

The long-sought agreement is expected to put an end to the fighting that first broke out in 1945 when Indonesian republicans, liberated from Japanese occupation, sought independence from Dutch rule.

Fighting flared anew last December when Dutch troops crushed the Indonesian republican government at Jogjakarta and interned many of its leaders in a self-styled police action. Premier Mohammed Hatta and other republican chiefs were released last month and the republican government was re-established during peace negotiations.

Republicans and leaders of the 15 non-republican states agreed yesterday on plans for establishing a United States of Indonesia as a sovereign government in partnership with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown. Details remain to be worked out later this month at a round table conference at The Hague.

Yugoslavia Premier Condemns Red Rule In Defiant Address

Bulgaria and Albania May Quit Cominform

By ALEX SINGLETON
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 3. (P)—Premier Marshal Tito forecast yesterday that Bulgaria and Albania would quit the Moscow-led Cominform and offered them a helping hand in shaking off Russian domination.

Tito has been tilting with the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) since June of last year, when Yugoslav Communists were expelled for nationalism and other deviations from the Moscow brand of Marxism-Leninism.

Both Bulgaria and Albania have had recent purges among high Communist leaders who were charged with heresies similar to the accusations leveled against Tito.

Slanders Condemned
The Yugoslav leader spoke yesterday at Skopje before an audience estimated at 350,000 by Yugoslav officials. It was the first time in recent months he appeared in Macedonia, which has been subjected to propaganda from anti-Tito factions urging an independent state made up of Yugoslav, Bulgarian and Greek Macedonia.

Tito declared the Bulgarian people ultimately would ignore "slanders against Yugoslavia and extend their fraternal hand to us and we will help them remove whatever individuals have so far put obstacles in the path of the creation and preservation of brotherly relations."

He said this statement also applied to Albania. Yugoslavia's tiny neighbor to the south.

Traicho Kostov, former vice premier of Bulgaria and former member of the central committee of the Bulgarian Communist party, was expelled from the party in June after being charged with nationalism and an unfriendly attitude toward the Soviet Union.

At about the same time, former Deputy Premier Koxe of Albania was executed after being convicted of treason. Xoxe had been reported siding with Tito in his quarrel with the Cominform.

Referring to two other Communist neighbors of Yugoslavia, Tito said the Cominform campaign was "a good wife."

Donaldson, a 22-year-old former soldier, just recently returned to St. Joseph. He was in the army in Japan until October and then on the West Coast.

"My friend, Orville Montmore, is going to be married at Troy, Kas., Saturday and I want to have a double wedding," he said. This is the ad he inserted yesterday in the St. Joseph News-Press.

"Wanted, girl under 21 to get married by Saturday. Phone 49836 between 5 and 7 p. m. and ask for Charles."

The persons able to listen because of the overload on the dial system heard a busy signal—but they also were able to hear Donaldson's conversation with prospective brides.

Girls from 15 to 35 years old phoned.

Defense Secretary Given New Powers Over Armed Forces

Washington, Aug. 3. (P)—Only President Truman's signature was needed today to make effective the additional powers he has asked for Secretary of Defense Johnson.

The House finished congressional action on an armed forces unification bill yesterday by a 356 to 7 vote of approval.

The main feature of the measure gives Johnson specific—in- stead of "general"—control over the Army, Navy and Air Force. It also sets up a new accounting system intended to cut armed services budget expenses.

The joint chiefs of staff—the top strategy group composed of the commanders of the three branches—will get a permanent chairman under the bill.

Most of the changes were recommended by the Hoover Commission and were supported by Mr. Truman, Johnson, and the late Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

Police Battle 72 Escaped Prisoners At Morelia, Mexico

Morelia, Mexico, Aug. 3. (P)—Most of the 72 prisoners battling police in a mass jailbreak surrendered early today after an all-night siege.

Six prisoners were killed in the fighting and eight captured, police headquarters said. One policeman was reported dead and two wounded.

The escaped prisoners, armed with rifles, sidearms and other weapons from the jail, were surrounded on a small hill outside the city.

The prisoners broke out of jail shortly before midnight. They made a concerted rush on guards and overwhelmed them.

Program To Break Jap Trusts Wound Up By MacArthur

By O. H. P. KING
Tokyo, Aug. 3. (P)—General MacArthur's controversial program for breaking up Japan's economic giants ended today. The allied occupation commander said it was "accomplished effectively."

Eleven big corporations were tagged for reorganization by a five-man review board which came here from Washington 15 months ago to make recommendations on 325 firms listed as "excessive concentrations." The board recommended divestment of certain holdings for nine others.

The 325 companies were selected for board action out of about 1,200 which had been affiliated with the Zaibatsu holdings companies. Through this powerful setup, headquarters said, "a small number of families exercised all-pervasive control over the industry, commerce and finance of Japan."

Socialization Charged
From its beginning, the deconcentration program was a matter of hot international and domestic debate. In the United States as well as Japan some called it "socialization." Others criticized it as "fragmentation of industry."

A press statement issued today by MacArthur's headquarters said: "The elimination of monopolistic economic power which dominated prewar Japanese life has been accomplished effectively without adverse effect upon, and no 'fragmentation' of, finance or industry."

"On the contrary, competent observers point to the 50 per cent increase in production along with considerable progress toward stabilization during the past year, some evidence of the growing health of the Japanese economy."

Some observers in Japan have called the program a success. Others have labelled it a failure.

Arms-To-Europe Measure Altered

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Aug. 3. (P)—Some major alterations appeared in store today for the arms-to-Europe bill.

The House Foreign Affairs committee called a closed-door huddle to hear from two men who are supposed to know all the details of the $1,450,000,000 program to help Atlantic pact and other nations erect a wall of weapons against Soviet aggression.

The witnesses are Maj. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer of the army and Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner of the state department. Committee sources described them as "the men who helped draft this plan and know all the answers."

The Senate Foreign Relations committee postponed from today until next Monday its hearings on the arms program after Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson conferred behind closed doors with the foreign committee and the armed services committee. The two groups will handle the bill jointly in the Senate.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), top GOP member of the Foreign Relations committee, reportedly told Acheson and Johnson that the president's program won't be approved in its present form. Vandenberg was represented as feeling that the bill goes too far in delegating powers to the president.

School Lunch Fund In Michigan Gets $2,220,678 U. S. Aid

Washington, Aug. 3. (P)—Michigan schools will receive $2,220,678 this year as the state's share of the federal school lunch program.

The agriculture department announced yesterday that the total 1949 allotment for the 48 states, the District of Columbia and American territories was $64,625,000, up $3,750,000 from last year.

In 1948 the federal money paid for more than 1,100,000 school meals served to approximately one fourth of the nation's school children.

Miller, second in the record primary that ran around 300,000 votes, captured the two remaining districts. Horace H. Edwards, former Richmond mayor and ex-chairman of the state Democratic party, ran far behind in third place. Remmie L. Arnold, Petersburg manufacturer and a newcomer to state politics, was last—far down the line.

Long Strike Ended At Ishpeming Plant Of Gossard Corsets

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 3. (P)—Geraldine Gordon, Midwest representative of the National Ladies' Garment Workers Union, announced today that the three and a half months long garment workers strike has ended.

She said an offer submitted by the H. W. Gossard company and accepted by the ILGWU has brought to an end the strike in the Ishpeming plant.

Details of the settlement will be announced in statements by the company and the union within a few days, she said. The strike began last April 12.

Distress Areas Of Michigan To Get Federal Aid

By ROBERT E. VOGES
Lansing, Aug. 3. (P)—Representatives of the "distressed areas" of Michigan had the promise today that some program of federal aid would be worked out to help them fight rising unemployment.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer assured them yesterday he "listened with a very sympathetic ear" to the collection of facts and figures given him by the sections of the state that are slipping economically.

Sawyer spent a full day in the Michigan capital with business leaders and state and local officials hearing the many sides of the Michigan unemployment problem. His recommendations will be referred to President Truman's economic advisors.

The commerce secretary said, however, that although some areas are in distress, Michigan and the nation as a whole is in a sound condition. He warned against fear and pessimism and said there was no indication that the country faced a depression this year.

He emphasized that this was a fact-gathering trip and that no plans could be made at this time.

"The program will be an attempt to stimulate private economy rather than work out some system of handouts," Sawyer said. "We want to see business revived so that the man who wants to work can get work."

Representatives of the cities of Muskegon, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and of the Copper Country of the Upper Peninsula were closeted with Sawyer in a private meeting to outline their troubles.

John C. Beukema, manager of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, headed a nine-man delegation from that hard-hit city. Beukema told Sawyer that 23 per cent of Muskegon's industrial workers were unemployed.

He asked that the distressed cities be designated as "critical" areas and be given some special consideration in the awarding of government contracts.

Sawyer said that such contracts are let by law to the lowest bidder.

Boy, 7, Gulps Down 23 Sleeping Pills

Omaha Hospital Staff Wakes Drugged Lad

Omaha, Aug. 3. (P)—A seven year old boy, unconscious and near death some 36 hours after swallowing 33½ grains of sedative, awakened today.

Jubilant nurses reported he cried out in his first real sign of consciousness when a hypodermic needle was being inserted in his arm. Bit by bit consciousness returned. Soon he was complaining of being hungry.

The boy, Trevis Wissenburg, had been near death in a drugged sleep since Monday when he gulped down 23 sleeping pills.

At County hospital, doctors mustered every medical device they knew to wake the lad.

One of them, Dr. Chester R. Poole, said, "I conferred with other doctors and they said if he had taken as much sedative as we believed, the case was almost hopeless."

"We decided to shoot the works," Dr. Poole said.

But early today Trevis had not awakened, though occasionally he had cried out in his sleep during treatment.

Monday, Mrs. Lova Wissenburg, the boy's mother, told her son to take a nap and then went to the store.

A few minutes later the boy's 11-year-old sister, Jacqueline, found him standing by a medicine cabinet, empty bottles before him. "I couldn't sleep," he told her, then lapsed into unconsciousness.

The pills had previously been used by Trevis's father who was killed in a truck accident five weeks ago.

At the hospital today, the boy was still on the critical list.

Masked Mob Flogs Chattanooga Negro

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 2. (P)—A 70-year-old Negro laborer was taken from his home near here Sunday and flogged by a group of masked and robed men, the Chattanooga Times reported tonight.

The Times said the attack upon the Negro, Charles Whiteside, climaxed a series of terrorizing raids in recent weeks by masked men in the nearby Negro section of the Hixson community.

Neighbors who said they witnessed the abduction related that about six men in uniform resembling Ku Klux Klan regalia dragged the aged Negro from his shanty, drove him to a Negro cemetery and lashed him severely.

ORE SHIPMENTS CONTINUE DOWN

Now 181,403 Tons Below Same Period In '48

There was a marked decline in ore shipments from Escanaba during the month of July, continuing a downward trend that became apparent in May and June, according to figures released today by Lee McMillan, Chicago & North Western railroad dock agent.

For July the total tonnage moved from the two C&NW ore docks in Escanaba was 564,210 compared with 640,112 tons last year. This is a decline of 75,902 tons for the past month.

For the year to Aug. 1, 1948, the cumulative total is 2,312,874 compared with 2,494,277 for the same period last year, or 181,403 tons less.

The shipments from Escanaba by months for the two years are presented for comparison as follows:

	1948	1949
March	None	51,556
April	457,334	492,738
May	707,579	608,088
June	689,251	596,283
July	640,112	564,210
Totals ...	2,494,277	2,312,874

McMillan attributed the slow ore movement in part to the recent coal mine tie-up but reported that shipments had again picked up "and business is pretty good right now."

There is slight expectation now that 1949 will reach or exceed the 1948 season total of 4,760,529 tons of ore shipped from Escanaba, the largest peacetime total since 1929.

It discusses fluorescence and radioactivity and the use of the Geiger counter, the standard instrument for radioactivity detection. It even gives the manufacturers and distributors of portable Geiger counters suitable for prospecting.

The title of the booklet is "Prospecting for Uranium. It can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office here.

MANY DROWN EVERY YEAR

Water Fatalities Total 6,900 In 1948

By JANE EADS

Washington—Four kids sneaked off to "swim" in a cattle pond. Non-swimmers, they all drowned. A man and his wife, non-swimmers, were wading on the river's edge. He stepped into a deep hole and drowned. A student broke his neck on a fancy dive in too-shallow water. A 10-year-old girl, fishing from a bridge, lost her balance and fell in.

Last year 6,900 persons drowned in this country. Now Carroll L. Bryant, national director of the American Red Cross water safety service, whose long range goal is to make every American a swimmer and every swimmer a lifesaver, cautions that the "open season" on drownings is again under way.

He warns especially against such early season hazards as changes in contour and depth of bathing places. He suggests that all natural swimming places be checked. The place that was shallow last year might be very deep now. The place where you dived last year might now have a rocky bottom and be unsafe for diving.

Another cause of early season drowning is the boat that has been out all winter and might have open seams or be waterlogged and unsafe.

Bryant warns too that at the beginning of the season you are frequently not in condition for swimming and that few folks are able to swim as far or as long as they could at the end of the season last year. Also, the temperature of the water is lower at this time of the year than later in the summer, and he says a failure to adjust to a sudden cold dip may easily cause a drowning.

An average of 30 persons per day are drowned during May, June, July and August. Of the 80-100,000 Americans who go "swimming" each year, only 7 per cent can swim well, another 43 per cent swim a little, and remaining 50 per cent can't swim at all. Most drownings occur in water from seven to 10 feet deep and within 10 yards of where one can stand safely.

"Every person should learn to swim as a basic physical skill," says Mr. Bryant. "You couldn't think of a better sport to save your life."

A new liquid masking "tape," said to brush easily onto wood, glass, metal, and similar surfaces, reportedly dries in 10 seconds and can be peeled off like tape when paint, lacquer, or other coating has dried.

Shooting Of Does Proposed To Curb Starvation Of Deer

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

Lansing, Aug. 3 (AP)—The conservation commission is going to be asked for the first time to permit shooting of does because of overpopulation of deer.

Game Chief Harry D. Ruhl is going to recommend that most of Newago county be added to Allegan county and the Grand Traverse Bay areas where deer of both sexes may be killed with guns in a special season Dec. 1-10. Permits will be issued by lot to 1,500 hunters in Newago county if the commission approves.

The commission meets Aug. 10 and 11 at Interlochen. In the two other areas where shooting of antlerless deer was authorized at the last meeting, the move was taken because the deer were damaging farm and fruit crops.

In the case of Newago county, however, no complaints of any serious damage have come in. Ruhl reports, however, that the acorn crop failed this spring. Since acorns are the chief winter food of deer in areas where oaks grow, Ruhl says there is a definite possibility that there will be deer stragglers there this winter.

By permitting the taking of does as well as bucks in the county, some deer who would starve to death later anyway will be harvested and the herd will be brought back into closer balance with the available food.

The ironical part of this is that the Newago situation is only the smallest fraction of the problem.

In any normally hard winter, deer starve to death by the hundreds in both the Upper and Lower Peninsula.

The commission, viewing this as a danger signal, asked the 1949 legislature for authority to make what regulations, including shooting of does, it found necessary anywhere in the state to cut down the herd.

Without this authority, the commission said, the annual increase in the deer herd is not being harvested and the deer are multiplying too fast.

With too many deer grazing off the winter feed in many areas, the feed is not growing back fast enough to replace itself each year. Thus, the situation is getting worse and worse, game experts say, and drastic measures should be taken to bring back the balance.

J. H. Bartlett, department deer expert, says, in fact, that he thinks the long predicted decline in the deer herd caused by overpopulation has set in.

The legislature, suspicious of proposals to give away its hold over the season and bag limits on deer, turned the proposal down. Pressure from farmers' groups, however, forced through a pale compromise.

The commission was given discretionary power over the herd in the Grand Traverse Bay cherry growing country and in all counties south of town line 16, the line that runs north of Pentwater, through Clare and south of Pinconning. Newago county is south of the line.

In these areas, crop damage was the problem, but the overpopulation danger to the deer herd is almost exclusively in the rest of the northern lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula.

Escanaban Arrested For Breaking Into Church At Wilson

Lawrence Dubord, 27, Escanaba, was arrested in Escanaba late Tuesday afternoon in connection with the breaking and entering of a church at Wilson.

Dubord is being taken to Menominee where he will be arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time.

Monday morning, a woman who went to the church to do the weekly cleaning found a man sleeping in the house of worship. He awakened and fled but from the description given by the woman various persons in Wilson indicated that the description fitted Dubord.

Michigan State Police, Menominee County Deputy Andy Vecolani and Escanaba city police made the arrest.

The value of the (Big Four Foreign Ministers) agreement will be found in how it is interpreted and how it is carried out. That, in turn depends upon the development of better relations, tolerance and a real attempt at understanding. The foundation has been laid and we must now proceed to build upon it.—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Speech Correction Course For Teachers Starts Here Monday

A three-hour credit course for teachers, in beginning speech correction, will begin here Monday. It was announced today by Hagle Quarnstrom, Delta County school commissioner.

The course, sponsored by Northern Michigan College of Education through the cooperation of the county school commissioner, will be offered for three weeks, at 9 a. m., on Mondays at the Junior High school. Forrest Roberts of NMCE will instruct.

Quarnstrom reports that already applications from a teacher in Manistique, one in Carney and one in Iron Mountain, have been received in addition to those from Delta County teachers seeking credit toward a certificate. The course is primarily for Delta County teachers but others interested may enroll.

T-B PATIENTS GET TRAINING

Vocational Courses Are Offered At "Sans"

Most Michigan tuberculosis victims no longer need face the bleak prospect of wasting the months or years of their lives spent in tuberculosis sanatoriums.

Advent of the state-wide in-sanatorium rehabilitation, or patient services programs, three years ago is leading to the improved outlook. And today, although the sting of tuberculosis onslaught is far from removed, the patient services programs are helping to bring many of the activities of the normal work-a-day world into the TB hospitals, in modified form, of course.

Schooling, homemaking, job training, religious services, hobbies, suitable recreation facilities, vocational counseling and aid to families are some of the benefits patients receive under the plan.

Financial picture of the programs serving Delta County TB patients can be made clear by reviewing the rehabilitation fund going into northern peninsula TB sanatoriums.

Copper Country Sanatorium Houghton—Office of Vocational Rehabilitation providing $6,000; Houghton County Anti-TB Society providing $3,000, through Christmas Seal funds.

Grand View Hospital, TB Division, Ironwood—Office of Vocational Rehabilitation providing $6,000; Marquette County TB Association providing $1,350, through Christmas Seal funds; sanatorium providing $1,800.

Pinecrest Sanatorium, Powers—Office of Vocational Rehabilitation providing $6,000; Michigan Tuberculosis Association providing $1,250, through Christmas Seal funds; Dickinson County TB Association; and Escanaba and Menominee city TB groups providing $2,000 also through Seal funds; sanatorium providing $580.

For the 17 sanatoriums operating patient services programs in Michigan, a total budget figure is some $192,575 or about $40,000 more than was provided in 1947-48.

While at the Dayton conference, Mr. Gruber will serve on a panel of six members, who will discuss the procedure to be following in organizing local chapters of the American Institute of Banking.

He will return to Escanaba Sunday night.

paign against him had unleashed "chauvinistic passions" in Hungary and Romania.

Won't Be Intimidated

He said leading Communists in those countries were "quite audibly whispering" that something could be wrenched from Yugoslavia because it was "capitalist," while their countries were "Socialist."

"We tried with the greatest sacrifices," Tito declared, "to create the closest relations with the peoples of those countries. But it was in the interests of some people to spoil those relations."

He said the Yugoslav people "cannot be shaken nor intimidated from firmly persisting in their struggle for the freedom, integrity and independence of their Socialist homeland."

The occasion for Tito's speech was the fifth anniversary of the people's republic of Macedonia, a federal state within Yugoslavia.

He has gone to considerable lengths to assure this part of the country of equal treatment, but his speech dealt sternly with the question of an independent Macedonia.

Flint Nine Trails Dayton By 3 Games

(By The Associated Press)

For the second time this season, Flint's Arrows are making a serious challenge to the Dayton Indians' rule over the Central League.

About a month ago the Arrows climbed within a single game of the Indians, but Dayton tightened up when the going got rough and Flint dropped back down again.

Now, thanks to a 6 to 0 shutout victory over Charleston last night while lowly Muskegon was blanking Dayton 2 to 0, the Arrows again are just three games off the pace.

BASKETBALL MERGER?

Santa's Helpers Lead Tourists To Workshop

BILL (SANTA) McDONALD and visitors at North Pole, N. Y. Even Santa takes off his coat in the summertime.

By NEA Service

North Pole, N. Y. (NEA)—A little way up the road that climbs Whiteface Mountain, Santa Claus is sitting in a pine log house with children on his knee, making plans for next December.

Because it is summer, the red coat hangs in the closet most of the time and Santa wears a tee-shirt, but the white beard is there and nobody, except maybe a youngster who had never seen his picture, would have any trouble recognizing him.

The little village just off the highway is Santa's Workshop, which suddenly appeared in the middle of the pines last month because six-year-old Patricia Reiss began asking some questions a couple of winters ago.

That was when Patricia was driving home from New York with her father, Julian Reiss, a Lake Placid businessman. The snow reminded her of Santa, and she wanted to know what he did when it wasn't Christmas.

Reiss' answer was a little slow in coming, but he figured Santa must have a place where he worked all year round. Then he got the idea that a lot of other children besides Patricia would like to see where Santa worked.

He talked it over with Harold Fortune, a construction man who is as bombastic as Reiss is quiet. Fortune owned 15 acres in the midst of the state-owned Whiteface Mountain area, and together they drew up plans for Santa's Workshop, a tourist attraction they feel confident nobody will be able to pass by as long as they have a child in the car with them.

To help, they called in 34-year-old Arto Monaco, a sensitive fugitive from Hollywood's cartoon studios who had retired to the village of Upper Jay, just down the valley from Whiteface, and gone into business building toys.

Because Monaco was likely to give away his hand-carved wooden toys that are caricatures of such things as trains, steamboats and circuses, he was almost ready to go out of business when Reiss and Fortune came along. He helped design the new village and since he'll keep on making toys, Monaco probably rates as No. 1 man to Santa.

Children get the favored treatment at the village. Parents just pay the freight and tag along. A pony cart takes the youngsters from the entrance gate and through the woods where white deer, goats, sheep, ducks and rabbits wander around. In the winter they'll ride in sleighs. There's a chute for the children to slide down into the village after the ride.

Great Britain Bares Evidence Of Slave Labor Inside Russia

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 3 (AP)—Great Britain accused the Soviet Union before the United Nations economic and social council today of creating "a new slavery basis" in the USSR.

Corley Smith, British delegate to the council, presented what he described as a copy of the "corrective labor code of the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic" giving rules for labor camps in the Soviet Union. The R. S. F. S. R. is the Soviet Union's largest state, Moscow is its capital.

Smith charged that this Soviet system was spreading to "the so-called popular democracies of eastern Europe."

"This is no doubt one of the main reasons for the tremendous exodus from eastern Europe and the Soviet zone of Germany which we have witnessed in recent years and which still continues—a flight of millions to the west," he said.

Why, he asked, should workers flee from "the workers' paradise"?

Alleged Racetrack Betting Racketeer Freed At Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 3 (AP)—Anthony J. Pecukonis, 26, of Waterbury, Conn., was free today after being held by police more than 24 hours in an alleged racetrack betting racket.

Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause released him yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. Police did not contest the move.

Officers said Pecukonis parked at the Detroit Fairgrounds race track with a telephone and short-wave radio installed in his car.

They claimed he then picked up results from the track loud speaker and passed on tips to gamblers ders with certain exceptions. One of these is when a state of emergency exists and the exception can be declared in the public interest.

Distress Areas Of Michigan To Get Federal Aid

"We will do what we can do in the letting of contracts," Sawyer said. Perhaps some of the exceptions can be utilized to aid the distressed areas."

George Bishop, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, presented the plight of the northern copper counties. Bishop said the 30 per cent of the industrial workers in Houghton, Baraga, Ontonagon and Keweenaw counties are unemployed. By winter, he said, the figure will jump to more than 60 per cent.

The Upper Peninsula delegation urged government copper subsidies, lifting of restrictions on government loans, more government contracts for small logging operators and an intensified reforestation and logging program on federal and state lands.

Sawyer told the group he would "keep copper in mind."

Other spokesmen for the Michigan cities urged the reduction or elimination of excise taxes and constructive federal building projects to "tide over" some of the centers of unemployment.

Sawyer pointed out that the government now has plans for at least $3,000,000,000 in public works compared to the previous peak year of 1936 when less than $2,500,000,000 was spent in public projects.

He also cited the more than $55,000,000 in army contracts that went to Michigan last month.

"When we get away from the more immediate, pressing problems," he said, "we must not forget the proposed international trade fair for Detroit. It will make a great contribution to international trade and help Detroit and all of Michigan."

in distant cities.

Pecukonis, however, insisted the car belonged to a legitimate businessman who had visited Detroit, returned to the east by plane and asked Pecukonis to drive the car back for him.

Pollen Season Is Approaching

THE first traces of ragweed pollen in the Upper Peninsula this season have been reported by the state health department, which keeps a close watch on the daily pollen count.

Escanaba is regarded as a haven for hay fever sufferers, as are most of the ports on Lake Michigan or Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula. However, we're only kidding ourselves if we believe there is very little ragweed in this area. Ragweed is a weed that grows prolifically and there is plenty of it in this area. Not only in the country and on vacant lots in the city, but right downtown in the heart of the business district, in alleys throughout the city, along driveways and fences.

We do not have the degree of ragweed pollen that many other areas have because we are on the shoreline of Bay de Noc and the prevailing winds are from the south. We are a haven for hay fever sufferers primarily because of geographical advantages and not because we have done a particularly good job in keeping ragweed from growing in our area.

Even conceding that it is a little late to war on ragweed, inasmuch as the weed is beginning to release its pollen, it is still not too late. The worst season for pollen in this area is yet to come—late August and early September. Every weed destroyed now will help to keep down the pollen count. The weed-killer, 2-4-D, and other chemical weapons can still be used on ragweed to good advantage.

Australia Moves To Crush Reds

AUSTRALIA, threatened with economic ruin by a Communist-directed coal strike, has taken positive action to break the strike and ultimately to wipe out Communist influence in that country.

The Communist party in Australia is comparatively small in numbers but it has been extremely powerful through its influence in the trade unions. The present coal strike in Australia, now in its sixth week, has conclusively and positively been traced to Communist direction. Since coal is in Australia the economic lifeblood of the nation, just as it is in the United States, the Communists have been able to take a stranglehold on the nation.

The Australian government has begged, threatened and cajoled the mine unions to settle the strike but to no avail. Now the government has sent in troops to work the mines.

A similar situation exists in Hawaii where longshoremen, also Communist directed, have bottled up the territory's ports in another strike aimed at economic strangulation. The United States government has adopted a virtual hands-off policy in the Hawaiian situation but the territorial legislature is not so complacent. The legislature is moving to take over control of the ports and to break the strike.

Hook Fails In Election Challenge

THE credentials of Senator Homer Ferguson as Michigan's junior senator have been unanimously approved by the U. S. senate, as virtually everyone had expected. Ferguson's election had been challenged by former Congressman Frank Hook, whom Ferguson defeated in the senate contest last fall. Hook apparently thought the Democratic-controlled senate would play his brand of politics and kick out the Michigan senator, despite the fact that Michigan voters gave Ferguson a 44,800 vote margin in the same election that the voters elected a Democrat, G. Mennen Williams, to the governorship and gave the state's electoral votes to President Truman.

The investigation showed conclusively that Michigan's election was on the "up and up," that there were no evidences of fraud and no cloud of wrong-doing on the part of Ferguson. The commission did find some faulty and inadequately administered election procedures and some inadequate facilities for handling the record vote. These inadequacies have been generally known in the state, but they are not fraudulent inadequacies. Further, the commission reported that the irregularities had no particular effect upon the outcome of the election.

All that Frank Hook succeeded in doing in challenging Ferguson's election was to give proof, if any more proof were needed, that he cannot take an election defeat gracefully and in the spirit of American democracy.

Truman Ignores Historical Facts

PRESIDENT TRUMAN is still taking some hefty swings at the big metropolitan newspapers which predicted his defeat almost universally in the 1948 election. Everyone admitted from the moment of his victory that he had earned the right to gloat at the expense of the erring press. But his recent remarks at Chicago suggest he may be rubbing it in a bit too hard on some points. Listen to this, for example: "I have never been in any bitter campaign when any metropolitan daily has been for me. I have no respect for any of their political prognostication or influence." This comment ignores certain facts. Wrong as the press was in 1948, it has many times been extremely accurate in its election predictions. And that was true even before the days of public opinion polls, when forecasts stemmed mainly from a sampling of expert political views.

As was pointed out at the time, those papers that conducted these old-fashioned samplings last year fared no better than the ones that relied wholly on polls. For the experts, including Mr. Truman's own party leaders in many states, were as wrong as the polls.

It isn't fair of the president to suggest that the 1948 debacle was merely the most striking in a long list of failures by press forecasters. The record doesn't back him up.

Other Editorial Comments

CENTENNIAL DEFICIT (Marquette Mining Journal)

A financial report from the Marquette Chamber of Commerce reveals there will be a deficit of about $5,000 in the sponsorship of the Centennial celebration. Until an itemized accounting of Centennial coins is submitted Monday the exact figure will not be known. Without this figure the deficit is $8,053. If an anticipated return of $3,000 from Centennial coins materializes, the red ink figure will be reduced to $5,000.

There remains the question: Who pays the bill? Certainly, the Marquette Chamber of Commerce should not be expected to meet it. The public should understand that a citizens committee, representative of a majority of the organizations in the community, named an advisory centennial committee in 1948. After several sessions, this group voted to turn the job over to the Chamber of Commerce as the general committee, with the Chamber's secretary as general chairman.

The celebration was a success, both in its magnitude and appeal. It brought the citizens of Marquette closer together in a community of interest than they have been in any previous civic project. The city was widely and favorably advertised. This was not the Centennial of the Chamber of Commerce. It was the Centennial of the city of Marquette. The Chamber's officers are planning—and rightly so—to present a detailed statement to the Marquette city commission, accompanying a request for an appropriation to cover the deficit.

In practically every celebration of this type, the city government involved has made a generous contribution to underwrite expenses. The city of Marquette made no advance donation. Granting that the city is pressed for funds, the celebration was that of all residents of the community. There is no way in which to spread the expense over a wider list than to assume it to be a legitimate claim upon the municipality. The Chamber of Commerce should get an understanding reception when it presents its story to the city commission.

RAILROADING BY RADIO (Grand Rapids Press)

The Grand Trunk Western railroad has announced that it soon will install a radio communication system in its yards and equipment in Michigan, Illinois and Indiana. Conductors on freight trains will be able to talk to engineers and brakemen and the road's central control office will be able to converse with yardmasters and train crews by radio-telephone.

Similar hookups have been used, mostly on an experimental basis, by other railroads, principally those operating in the east. But this will be the first time radio-controlled railroading has been tried in Michigan. It may be in fact that the Grand Trunk is the first to introduce the idea this far west. C. A. Skog, the railroad's general manager, says that "the system will obtain a more prompt handling of traffic and will work for greater efficiency and safety." That seems beyond dispute. The safety factor alone would appear important enough to justify use of radio on trains. In recent years there have been three or four major railroad accidents which, in the opinion of many observers, could have been prevented if dispatcher-to-train radio service had been in operation.

Grand Rapids folk might expect the Grand Trunk to be the first railroad in Michigan to use radio control. They know that road as one which, in the 90 years it has served them, always has tried to give the best in service. And they probably suspected when the Grand Trunk built its attractive new station in the north end that it was out to make a strong bid for business in Michigan with a program calling for the modernization of equipment, facilities and methods. If they didn't suspect it they have good reason to now.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS WROTE

For years I have pointed out in this modest space that the teaching of English in our schools is a woeful failure. It is a failure principally because too much emphasis is placed on the unintelligible Latinized horror of formal grammar (which no one ever understands, teachers as well as students), and because of the inflicting of "literature" on hapless school children. (Literature: Any obsolete writing whose excellence is measured by its soporific dullness.)

It cannot be denied that our schools do not teach us anything much about speaking or writing correctly. Proof of this is on every hand. Here are typical examples of bad writing found in newspapers and magazines:

"Officers have scoured the area where the gun was found Monday looking for it." Not only is this an impossible construction,

Clark Worries Labor-Liberals

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—In the wake of the nomination of Attorney General Tom Clark to the supreme court, considerable dismay is felt in the labor-liberal, ex-New Deal wing of the Democratic party. The reaction in this important section of the Fair Deal party is one of gloom and apprehension.

The reasons for the gloom deserve more examination than they are likely to get, since Clark's confirmation by the Senate is almost a certainty. Any controversy over the appointment will be stirred up on the conservative rather than the liberal side.

To begin with, liberals critical of the nomination put it in the framework of, first, the Truman administration and, second, the court itself. They believe that Chief Justice Fred Vinson had more to do than any other single individual outside the White House in influencing the choice. They see a repetition of the pattern of government by crony. Little or no animus toward Clark enters into this judgment. It is, rather, a conviction that the horizon of the administration is narrowing and contracting, rather than expanding.

On the court, Clark will be under the domination of the chief justice. This is where the apprehension of the liberals enters in. They see the majority of five in favor of a generous interpretation of major issues—the late Justice Frank Murphy was one of the five—converted into a minority of four.

CIVIL RIGHTS

The concern is deepest over civil rights in a period when fear and suspicion have reached a kind of fever pitch. If Clark on the court follows Vinson's lead, he will take a narrow view of the constitutional rights of the individual.

A table has been compiled for the years 1946 through 1948, showing the stand taken by each of the nine justices in civil rights cases in which the court has divided. Murphy cast his vote 53 times in support of the right claimed by the individuals. This made him first in this respect among the nine, although Justice Rutledge was a close second with 52 votes for the claimed right.

On this score, Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Stanley Reed were at the bottom of the list, having each voted only eight times in favor of the claimed right of the individual. Justice Harold Burton, Truman's first appointment to the court, voted 10 times for the claimed right. For the other justices the record stands: Douglas 47, Black 39, Frankfurter 23 and Jackson 14.

Viewed from the other perspective, Murphy is also at the top of the list. In only three cases did he vote to deny the claimed right of the individual. The score for the others is as follows: Rutledge 4, Douglas 10, Black 17, Frankfurter 34, Jackson 41, Burton 47 and Reed and Vinson each 49.

Many would reject such score-keeping on the ground that it ignores the legal intricacies in each and merely indicates the intellectual and emotional bent of the individual. But it does undoubtedly do the latter, and even though a man is elevated to the rarified atmosphere of the supreme court he does not divorce himself wholly from his past prejudices.

SEVERAL CASES COMING UP

If Clark follows the lead of Vinson, it appears likely that a new majority of five will prevail over a new minority. The core of the minority will be Justices Black, Rutledge and Douglas, who will be joined from time to time by either Frankfurter or Jackson.

A number of highly significant civil rights cases are bound to come before the court in the next few years. The decisions handed down in those cases will be a powerful influence in determining the future of this democracy. And they will come at a time when the power of the state is everywhere encroaching on the rights of the individual.

It would be folly to predict the course of any individual once he has been thrust up to the high level of the highest court. Expedient and opportune politicians have been transformed by the black robe. Certainly Clark's career on the supreme bench will be watched with the closest interest by those who hold to a belief in "equal justice under law."

It also misuses the word scour, which does not mean "search." It means "to clean by hard rubbing."

"Mrs. Gordon had spent several weeks at Appleton City, who later passed away." "Mary didn't have a gaul bladder or a gaul duck and at that time the doctors didn't expect her to make a complete recovery."

An item of startling intelligence from a nationally syndicated political column: "The election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the father by the same name."

"Proceeds will be used to assist musicians afflicted with tuberculosis and their families."

"The neighbors collected a fund to screen a porch for Mr. Smith, who has lost his legs so he can watch neighborhood activities."

"A check of $600,000 was presented to the Boston diocese to be used for the building of a home for poor children by Joseph P. Kennedy."

"Wanted, furnished apartment by young couple and expectant child who don't smoke, drink, swear, have pets or parties." "Born at St. Joseph's, three doctors became interne the same day."

It is not the teachers who are to blame. The fault lies with our educational system, with its mossback traditions, its mossback teaching methods, its mossback textbooks. We need sanity, common sense, and realism in our classrooms.

Getting Into the Act

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

ACTIVE HERE—Today's column fourth and last in a series written by our friend, who is an active member of Alcoholics Anonymous, will tell those who seek AA help how and where they may obtain it.

It will interest the teetotaler as well as the man who can drink sociably; but most of all it will hold the attention of the uncontrolled drinker and those who seek to help him. It will interest them because it is written by a man who has known the hopelessness of alcoholism; but now through the aid of Alcoholics Anonymous is again hopeful for his future.

This man is not alone. Each Thursday night the local group of AA meets formally. During the weeks the members see each other as the necessity arises.

Right now the meetings are being held at the homes of the members. At a recent meeting there were visitors from groups in other cities. Plans are being made by the Escanaba group for a public meeting this coming fall. "That will end our anonymity, but we feel we are strong enough for that," said our friend. The public meeting is not unusual among AA groups in larger cities, groups that have been tried and tested and found ready to sustain a "continuing program of helpfulness."

But let's get along with the column as written by our friend.

IT'S VOLUNTARY—"Alcoholics Anonymous has its headquarters in New York City," he writes. "From there it is divided into groups throughout the world. There are no distinct districts and they are usually centralized around a city or village."

"These individual organizations are known as groups. "It is entirely a voluntary organization. There are no dues or assessments. "To become a member, one has only to signify his or her desire by contacting a member of the group. Usually it is advisable and necessary that that person be hospitalized for a week or so. This is the only expense for which a person must pay."

THE GOLDEN RULE—"There are always situations that sometimes cause embarrassment to a new member of Alcoholics Anonymous. "The most common of these is when some 'friend' or other person or persons make some deriding remark about the affiliation of an individual to the organization, if such affiliation is known or suspected. Such remarks are usually made through ignorance, or by someone who is in far greater need of exactly the same treatment than the person who has been honest enough to admit that he needs it and is receiving it."

"There cannot be a great deal wrong with an organization which is founded upon the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule. "True Christianity is expressed and practiced when members of a group will leave everything and go to the aid of another member, day or night, if when that member is in danger of 'slipping'—for there are 'slips' on the part of AA's."

"This program is not a sure solution by any means, but it is admitted by doctors and the clergy that it is the best solution for all alcoholics that has been presented to date."

NOT PROHIBITIONISTS—"Let it be plainly understood that Al-

Escanaba—The Service clubs of the district will hold their regular weekly meeting at Nahma while the Nahma vacation school is in session August 13 to 26. Members of the faculty of the "backwoods college" will be the speakers.

Escanaba—Mrs. Oma Rammel has as her guests at her summer home on M-35, Mrs. J. M. Rammel and Mrs. C. A. LeMay, Decatur, Ill., Ruth Elta Rammel and Regina Barry, Assumption, Ill., and John Simms of Moweaqua, Ill.

In our simple faith, believing that others would do likewise, we disbanded our armed might and plunged into the task of economic reconstruction. We soon found that others gave mere lip service to the work of the UN, and were determined to expand their own political philosophy by every possible device.—Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

coholics Anonymous, as an organization, is not against the sale of alcoholic beverages—nor is it for them. "It simply takes no stand either way."

"It probably would be truer to say, however, that a member of Alcoholics Anonymous is envious of his friends or neighbors who can drink sociably. Realizing this is impossible for him, he must leave all forms of alcoholic beverages alone."

HOW TO CONTACT—"There is a group of Alcoholics Anonymous in Escanaba serving Delta county and the vicinity."

"If you desire any aid for yourself as an individual, or advice as a wife or friend of an alcoholic, all that is necessary for you to do is to write to Alcoholics Anonymous, P. O. Box 43, Escanaba, Michigan, and everything that is possible to do will be done."

CONCLUSION—"So ends the communication from our friend of Alcoholics Anonymous. The columns he has written have aroused the interest of those who seek help for themselves or a friend. The response to the columns has been a number of inquiries to the newspaper office for further information."

In the future these inquiries should be directed in writing to Alcoholics Anonymous as suggested above.

Today's Problems

Dear Editor:

During the last few months I have been very much disturbed about social and economic thinking. I have talked to quite a number of businessmen and other people and there seems to be a confusion—a lack of definite opinion—as to our present economic situation and also a feeling on the part of many people that maybe it is a good idea to trade "American Freedom" as we have known it for so called security and so called social reforms which stem from the government.

I am asking for your reactions to a few of the following questions. This letter is going to many newspaper men in the state and any opinions that are expressed by you or others will be confidential. Here are some of the things I am thinking about.

Do you find among the people you talk to that they feel our government, and in speaking of that I mean federal, state, and even local, should assume more responsibility in public welfare and security of the people?

Do the people you talk to really understand that they pay through taxes for any benefits they receive or do they think it comes out of somebody else's pocket, possibly the wealthy? Do you find a lack of social responsibility on the part of the people? By that I mean acceptance of responsibility to each other and a responsibility in developing the social activities and welfare of the community beyond any government operation.

Do you find a lack of respect for other people's rights. That is, a selfishness greater than it used to be, primarily expressed in the idea "I want mine and I want to get it first, regardless?"

With so many benefits accruing and promised, do you think that people are willing to trade their present freedoms for so called security, which of course means more regulations and planned economy—free enterprise—is really on trial?

Do you find a lack of initiative among the younger people and a reluctance to assume their proper responsibilities in their relationship to their community? Where do the people you contact place the responsibility for present conditions, uncertainty, prices, taxes and the certain amount of confusion?

What are the subjects being discussed by the people you contact? Are people becoming more economy minded as to government expenditures?

Yours very truly,
Hal G. Trump,
3314 Book Tower,
Detroit, Mich.

Airmail Service

Dear Editor:

I have read in the papers that Nationwide Airlines is seeking an airmail contract in the Upper Peninsula and that Wisconsin Central Airlines already has such a contract but fails to use it.

Every resident of the U. P. should get behind this application of Nationwide, it seems to me, because we surely deserve and need airmail service. If Wisconsin Central can't furnish the service or refuses to do it, Uncle Sam should see to it that someone else does.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Newspapers carried a little note about President Truman driving his own car to Leesburg, Va., the other day, but there was no other explanation of why he went there. Here is the reason why:

Some weeks ago, Sen. Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts Republican, was visiting Gen. George Marshall at Leesburg, when the ex-secretary of state showed him the grave of Col. Edward D. Baker, former U.S. senator from Oregon, killed in action during the Civil War. The stone marker was covered with moss. Vines and vegetation had grown up over the spot, and General Marshall remarked to the senator from Massachusetts that it was a shame a senator from Oregon who had fought so gallantly should be so ungallantly remembered.

Later, General Marshall reported this to President Truman, and some days later, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon got a message from the president telling him that a former Oregon senator lay unremembered at Leesburg, and suggesting that they both visit the grave.

Morse accepted. But before leaving, he sent over to the Library of Congress to find out more about Colonel Baker. The library reported that he was killed at Ball's Bluff, Va., but buried at Lone Mountain cemetery, San Francisco. Furthermore, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who was wounded in the same battle, described in one of his books how Senator Baker's body was carried back to the west coast—at that time an unheard-of trip for a war casualty.

TRUMAN AS CHAUFFEUR

Senator Morse, however, had no opportunity to break this news to President Truman until the two got in the White House car—a Lincoln—for their drive to Leesburg.

Their first conversation was about the fact that the president was driving himself, the senator discreetly inquiring when the president had last driven. Mr. Truman admitted he hadn't driven for a couple of years, but said he still remembered how. As the trip continued, it was evident that whatever the president lacked in skill as a chauffeur, he made up in zestful driving. With the secret service men sitting nervously in the rear, the president enjoyed every minute of it.

Finally, Senator Morse broke the news. "I looked up Senator Baker of Oregon," he said, "and the Library of Congress informs me that while he was shot at Ball's Bluff, he was buried at San Francisco."

The presidential car nearly swerved off the road.

Recovering, Mr. Truman said that General Marshall would feel bad about bringing them all the way to Leesburg for nothing. "We mustn't hurt his feelings," he added. "You leave this to me."

So, after lunch, as General Marshall escorted the party three miles away to the supposed grave of Senator Baker, Mr. Truman broke the news that he wasn't buried there after all. General Marshall wasn't entirely convinced, however, and led them to the grave.

There they found that the Library of Congress was right. The tombstone was merely a marker stating that "Col. Baker was killed here, Oct. 21, 1861." There was no indication that he was buried there. In fact, the bodies of 54 other federal soldiers had been removed to a near-by grave.

General Marshall felt bad about bringing the president and Senator Morse down to Leesburg on a wild-goose chase, but they didn't feel that way at all. They were delighted to have the excuse to get away from Washington, and they arranged to have a gardener tidy up the spot where Colonel Baker fell. No new monument, they agreed, was necessary.

Note—Senator Baker, born in England, served in the house of representatives from Illinois, then moved to Oregon about the time of the gold rush and was elected to the U. S. senate from Oregon in 1859. He enlisted in the 71st Pennsylvania volunteers, and was temporarily commissioned a major general.

SECRET CAPITAL COCKTAIL LOUNGE

The story has never been told how the Democrats discovered a secret cocktail lounge in the capitol building after they took over from the Republicans.

The lounge was fixed up by ex-Senator Carly Brooks of Illinois and his political protege, ex-Sergeant-at-Arms Edward McGinnis, in one of the historic rooms of the capitol where the supreme court first met. They cleared out the stately, historic furnishings and turned it into a gay-colored cocktail lounge, incongruous and out of place in the capitol.

How much it cost the taxpayers to paint, decorate, and furnish Brooks' private lounge will probably never be known. It was simple for the ex-senator from Illinois to keep this secret since he was chairman of the senate rules committee and in charge of the senate wing of the capitol.

But when Brooks was defeated last November, Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona, the new rules chairman, inherited all his keys. That's how the Democrats discovered the secret lounge.

Telephoning Senator Scott Lucas, majority leader of the senate, Hayden said: "I have a surprise for you."

Later he took Lucas to the hideaway, unlocked the door, and announced: "Look what I have discovered! I don't want to get caught with a room like this on my hands, so I'm turning it over to you. It's only poetic justice that you should get it."

TRUMAN'S LONG MEMORY

White-haired, 75-year-old Mamie Karst, mother of Missouri's Congressman Ray Karst, was one of the first political leaders in St. Louis to come out for Truman in 1934, when he was elected to the senate. Calling at the White House with her congressman son and family, she asked the president: "Do you remember me?"

"Do I remember you?" exclaimed Truman, who hadn't seen her since 1934. "How could I ever forget you?"

Michigan Happenings In Washington

By ESTHER TUFTY

Michigan did not fare so well when the consent calendar was considered this week in the Senate.

Knocked down was a bill authorizing the federal government to add states in collecting cigarette taxes.

So was a bill introduced by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (and Charles E. Potter in the House) providing for the preparation of a plan to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Soo locks. No appropriations were involved. Ac-ording to the Senator, it merely provided for the cooperation of the federal government thru an honorary commission of top flight Americans and Canadians.

For some reason, Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico objected. No one knows why. But one objection is all it takes.

Next week, it's hoped by all fishermen that Michigan will be luckier when the consent calendar comes up again. A relief measure to combat the destructive sea lamprey will be considered.

On Tuesday, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer will be in Lansing to get first-hand information on the unemployment situation in Michigan. It's his second stop on a cross-country swing.

To be certain the general unemployment of the Upper Peninsula was not overlooked (especially the out-of-work copper miners), Congressman John Bennett invited the Secretary on July 21 to visit the hard-hit northern area.

His reply this week indicated that Sawyer had already alerted W. T. Hunt, in the Detroit office, who has arranged for a group from the Upper Peninsula to meet the Secretary in Lansing. Headed by Gervase Murphy, the group will include R. W. Jenner, Albert Gasvoda, Senator Leo Roy and George Bishop.

Provisional allotments totalling $850,000 to states, territories, and the District of Columbia for grants to study water pollution resulting from industrial waste are announced by Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing.

This means $23,310 for Michigan, to be used by the state Water Resources Commission. Before funds may actually be released, the applications setting forth specific programs must be approved by the Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency.

Polkas Are Happy Music, King Of Polka Says Here

"Polkas are a happy type of music," Frank Yankovic of Cleveland, Ohio, America's polka king, said in an interview here yesterday.

"When people dance to waltzes or fox trots they have time to think, but when they dance the polka, all their attention is directed to dancing the lively step. This probably explains why it is currently so much in vogue in many sections of the United States," he observes.

Yankovic and his musicians played to a capacity crowd of over 500 Monday night at Terrace Gardens, and yesterday afternoon was busy autographing records for fans.

He will return to Escanaba in October or November, probably in November so he can try his hand at deer hunting. He's never done it before, but he thinks it will be good fun. Until then he'll be busy swinging around the country in Minnesota, the East coast and in Wisconsin cities.

They arrived here Monday night, off schedule because of car trouble, from Milwaukee. Previously they played in Calumet and Ironwood, Mich., and Detroit and Muskegon. Last night they played in Wausau, and tonight play in Chicago. Monday they will be in Chicago recording the Christmas Polka and "There'll Always Be a Christmas," his own compositions.

Cover 36,000 Miles

The five musicians are traveling in one car, and in the past six months have covered 36,000 miles to fill engagements. They are booked by the Music Corporation of America, with offices in Chicago, and their music is published by the Mills publishing company.

Yankovic, born of Yugoslavian immigrants, began playing polkas he learned from his mother when he was nine years old. By the time he was 16, he had his own accordion, and with his two-piece orchestra played for neighborhood parties. Later he organized a three-piece orchestra and played for dances. He had already begun to make recordings, to satisfy local demand for polka music, when war broke out.

Frank Yankovic served with the First Army in Europe, was wounded in the Battle of the Bulge, when he was trapped and had both hands and feet frozen, and was subsequently hospitalized for four and a half months. He was mustered out in 1945, the day after Christmas, after convalescing in Oxford, England.

On his return to Cleveland, where his wife and four children live, Yankovic realized a dream. He built a night club of his own and produced his own shows. That lasted for awhile, until word about his music spread around. Then he had so many engagements to fill, he couldn't devote all his time to his business place. His two partners now operate the club and Frank tours with his musicians.

Not Hard to Play

"Just Because" was the piece that made us," Yankovic remembers. This year "Blue Skirt Waltz" hit another high. "The Blue Skirt Waltz" was a piece of Bohemian music we revised and wrote lyrics for," the polka king explains.

"The polka is an easy dance, and it's not hard to play. If you have the special knack for it," the musician says. Yankovic handles office work and book-keeping for her husband, whom she doesn't get to see very often.

Yankovic was born in Davis, West Va., in 1915, on July 28, but shortly afterwards his family moved to Cleveland. Frank's father, now retired, was a blacksmith. Frank's parents couldn't afford music lessons, so he worked after school in a foundry to earn money for lessons and instruments. When he finished school, he taught the accordion, worked eight hours a day in the foundry and played weekends with his orchestra.

He was the first to play his brand of music over radio, on stations WJY and WGAR. Yankovic learned back in 1937 that no Slovenian polka music had been written or published in this country. When he had exhausted all the melodies handed down by generations of his people, he had to compose them for his orchestra. He wrote more than 100 of them, and when people started asking for them, Yankovic opened his own publishing house, and later formed his own recording company.

He's Boyish Looking

Yankovic, a boyish-looking fellow, arranges all his music, and composes most of the music he and his orchestra now play. On this tour he is using a piano, two solovoxes, a guitar, banjo, two accordions and a base fiddle. He uses piano and drums to brighten the rhythm, and plays some of the polkas in fox-trot time so those who don't dance can enjoy the music. The use of the banjo, Yankovic says, gives polkas a lift that makes them easier to dance to and hear. The solovoxes, an innovation, are his musical trademark.

Yankovic was declared polka king of America at Milwaukee last year, at the Polka Festival. He played for a record audience of 8,000, and received more than 5,000 votes.

The young musician is popular with all nationality groups and is no longer considered a Slovenian entertainer. He holds the record for the largest audience drawn by a band, 6,150 at Milwaukee, on a Tuesday.

A little request started him off after the war. Columbia Records heard about his club and music, and sent a man to sign the Yanks to a contract. Frank insisted that one number be a little tune called "Just Because." The success of that waxing is apparent to everyone. It sold over one million records, the first polka to sell more than 1,000,000.

Teen-Ager And Family Car Form

A Major Problem

By RUTH MILETT

The day the oldest child reaches the eligible age for a driver's license the family car becomes a problem in many homes.

From a teen-ager's letter: "I was 16 two months ago. According to law I'm old enough to drive a car. But my father and mother keep putting me off by saying 'There's plenty of time' whenever I mention getting my driver's license. If there's a dance my date and I always have to ride with some other fellow. Do you think my parents are being fair?"

Well, J. B., most parents dread the day when their children reach driving age. Having a teen-age son or daughter out in the family car is a worry to parents—and you can't really blame them.

Too many teen-agers get into automobile accidents. Too many can't resist the impulse to show off a little when they get behind the wheel of a car. Too many attempt to combine drinking with driving.

That's why the parents worry and often put off as long as possible letting a son or daughter start driving the family car.

However, I'm on your side—for several reasons. First of all, the automobile is just one more worry today's parents have to put up with. They can't keep their children from driving indefinitely, and it seems to me that if the law sets an age at which young people are supposed to be mature enough to drive cars, parents should accept that age.

Parents Show Poor Logic Then, too, it doesn't seem logical to me for parents to refuse to allow a teen-age child to drive their car and then let him ride around in the car of any teen-age friend who is able to get hold of one.

If I were you I'd try to sell my family on the idea of letting me get a driver's license and use the family car for important dates, etc., by making a few concessions.

First of all, promise them that if they let you drive you'll not hog the family car. A good many teen-agers do, you know. Once they start to drive, they think they ought to have the car whenever they want it.

I'd also promise not to take a drink when driving. And not to go over a certain speed; whatever your parents think is reasonable.

If you make these promises, the thought of turning the car over to you may not be so dreaded by your parents. But whatever you promise, be sure that you live up to your agreements.

Don't Complain About Age Signs

How many times have you heard women willfully call attention to their age by bemoaning the inevitable signs of advancing years?

Complaints about gray hair or wrinkle-threats are of questionable interest as a topic of conversation. As a method of making people aware of one's birthdays, such complaints succeed all too well.

Marks of maturity are inevitable and no one can escape them. Because the aging process is a natural one, it never attracts attention by itself. Knowing that, no woman should attract attention to the mounting years by her remarks.

If she's smart, she'll make use of the experience and wisdom which the years have taught her. She'll use her knowledge to make the most of her personality and elegant grooming.

DRIVING HOME A POINT — For years teachers have been pounding facts into their students' heads, but here the process is reversed. Edna Ellyson, of Cowan, W. Va., a science fellow at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, O., pounds on the head of her physics professor, Dr. Richard Sutton. The wood block into which Edna drives the nail rests on a 50-pound chunk of iron atop the prof's head. The inertia of the iron serves as a cushion which protects Sutton from feeling the blows of the hammer.

HARRY J. MOORE: You see the country, too

By NEA Service
State College, Pa.—There are more ways than one of working your way through college, and a 25-year-old ex-Navy pilot has found a new way to do it.

Harry J. Moore, of Philadelphia, sophomore at Pennsylvania State College, likes planes, and came up with a plan which permits him to go on flying and still earn his degree.

When the good weather comes, Moore flies a plane to the campus and each weekend takes off on a spraying assignment. His assignment may take him anywhere from South Carolina to New England, but he never fails to report for classes Monday morning.

In his plane, he sprays cotton fields, potato fields, forests, and sometimes cities. It's not dangerous, but "people think it is," he says.

"It's really a summer job," Moore says, "but I begin earlier because the spraying season begins before school ends."

At Penn State, Moore is studying forestry. He hopes to major in entomology and he sees possibilities of combining his spraying activities with his forestry career.

The jovial Navy flier tried cross-country running at Penn State, but gave up the sport when his spraying job took him cross-country at considerably less effort to himself.

"It's easier to see the country this way," he smiles.

MORE NURSES TO BE NEEDED

Estimate 400,000 Will Be Required By 1960

By JANE EADS

Washington.—The U. S. Public Health Service estimates more than 400,000 professional nurses will be needed to care for the nation's sick and ailing by 1960. On active duty today in hospitals throughout the country, in public health agencies, in industry, in doctor's offices, in private duty, are 280,500 nurses. There should be 74,000 more, says Miss Margaret G. Arnstein, director of the service's Division Nursing Resources.

The Public Health Service is working hard to find ways to meet the shortage and to prepare for the needs of 1960. These needs, incidentally, are based on estimated population increases, hospital building and the expansion of the local public health services. They are based also on the supposition there will be 200,000 trained practical nurses on the job.

One method, Miss Arnstein says, is to get more trained practical nurses and to utilize those available more efficiently. Another method is to determine which available nursing schools could be expanded and enlarged or merged if they are very small.

"Some states have been thinking in terms of university nursing schools," Miss Arnstein told me, explaining that most nursing schools have been conducted by hospitals. "Minnesota, Oregon, Washington and some other states already have university schools. Mississippi, Florida and Arkansas have state university nurse training schools on tap with their legislatures."

These schools would prepare nurses to become instructors, supervisors, directors, administrators and clinical specialists in a combined course of regular academic work and professional training with the hospital ward and the public health agency as laboratories.

It is also hoped that expansion of programs for practical nurses in vocational high schools will increase the supply of these nurses. Miss Arnstein says that today there are only about 13,000 trained practical nurses in the country, that some 110,000 workers in hospitals are without formal training of any kind. By establishing university schools, improving hospital schools, by amalgamation of small schools we can get more and better nurses, Miss Arnstein believes.

JoAnne Norton Is Married Tuesday To Richard A. Bergeon

Miss JoAnne Norton, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Norton, 1013 Delta avenue, and Richard A. Bergeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bergeon, 104 North 10th street, spoke their nuptial vows at a 9 o'clock ceremony on Tuesday morning, August 2 in the Rectory of All Saints Catholic church. The vows were spoken before the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Jack Cook, matron of honor and Miss Pauline Stearns, bridesmaid. Jack Cook served the groom as best man and ushering was Joseph Bergeon.

The bride's gown of white Burmese satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice and sheer yoke edged with an off-the-shoulder lace bertha and long tight sleeves ending in points over the wrist. The full bouffant skirt ended in a circular train. A sash of self material tied in a bow in the back forming a bustle. Her fingertip veil was edged in lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of all white gladioli centered with pink roses.

The matron of honor wore a gown of light blue net styled with a sweetheart neckline, tight fitting bodice and full bouffant skirt, and matching headpiece. The bridesmaids gown of light pink net was similar to that of the maid of honor with a matching headpiece. They carried bouquets of yellow, pink and white gladioli.

Lorraine Roberts, Eugene Tourangeau United In Marriage

Holy Family church of Flat Rock, its altars decorated with cut flowers and pastel shaded gladioli, formed the setting on Saturday, July 30, for the marriage of Miss Lorraine Mae Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roberts, Gladstone Route One, and Eugene Tourangeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tourangeau, sr.

The nine o'clock nuptial mass was said by the Rev. Fr. Roland Dion, pastor. The traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Josephine Saykally, organist, and the music of the mass was sung by the church choir. The bride's brother, Stanley Roberts, who is studying for the priesthood, and the groom's brother, Brother Clement, served as altar boys.

For the double ring ceremony was performed the bride placed her bouquet before the statue of the Blessed Virgin and at the conclusion of the services it was removed from the Blessed Virgin's statue and placed before the Statue of St. Joseph. As the bride left the church, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was sung by the choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white marquisette, the yoke of which was outlined with two rows of Chantilly lace and the full skirt falling in soft folds was edged with rows of Chantilly lace. Her lace edged veil of illusion was caught to a high crowned tiara of seed pearls and formed a long train. She carried a white prayer book centered with rubrum lilies with white satin streamers knotted with lilies.

Miss Rosalie Lancoeur of Milwaukee, was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mary Ann Roberts, sister of the bride and Theresa Richie. The maid of honor's gown was of aqua crepe fashioned with a full skirt, square neck and short puffed sleeves. She wore a matching floral head-dress and mesh gloves of yellow. The bridesmaids' gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor in yellow, and they wore matching floral headresses of aqua and aqua mesh gloves. They carried bouquets of rubrum lilies, carnations and baby mums.

The little flower girl, Sandra Lee Terrian, wore a floor length pink organza gown with a pink satin bow in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of orchid baby mums and sweetpeas. The ringbearer, Neil Peterson of Milwaukee, the groom's nephew, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Leo Tourangeau was his brother's best man and the groomsmen were Francis Lancoeur. Ushering were Donald and Harry Roberts.

Brick Laying At
Hospital Is Now
Well Under Way

Construction work on the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital is making good progress.

The brick work on the walls, at some stages of construction has reached a height of about four feet. This work has been delayed some what because the window frames have not as yet arrived. Brick layers are devoting their time to the walls of solid masonry and to the building of the chimney which is already up about ten feet.

Sewers are also being dug at this time. Some difficulty has been encountered in the excavation process because of the layers of rock a short distance below the surface. Most of this trouble, however, has been overcome.

ROUGH SAILING ON ITS WAY OUT—This will be the coming thing in large passenger ships and luxury liners, according to speedboat designer and manufacturer Car Wood. It's the Venturi, Wood's newest design, shown in Detroit. The twin-hulled yacht is said to be able to ride the roughest type of water and still maintain its even keel. Wood says the unique "tunnel" construction pockets air on which the craft rides, preventing rough sailing even in heavy seas at high speed.

Young Wife Hurled To Death From Car On Road To Flint

Flint, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Maudie Irene Iser, 23, of Detroit, hurled to death from a speeding car early today after hours of bitter quarreling with her husband over another man.

The husband, Leonard, 28, was returning with his wife from Flint, where they had laid their cases before Mrs. Iser's sister, Lillian Janssen.

The Oakland county coroner's office said the death was accidental. Iser told Cpl. Julius Richter of the state police that his wife suddenly opened the car door and stepped onto the running board.

They were half way between Flint and Pontiac on the Dixie highway.

"I looked back and saw her rolling over and over," Iser told police. "She was whimpering when I picked her up."

Richter said she might have slipped off the running board as the car raced along at 60 miles an hour. She was dead on arrival at Hurley hospital here.

Aga Khan Robbed By Armed Bandits

Cannes, France, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Aga Khan's wife said today that four bandits robbed her and her husband of jewels and money worth $450,000.

The theft occurred at noon as the Aga Khan and the Begum, with a maid and a chauffeur, left their Riviera Villa here enroute to Deauville to visit their son, the Aly, and daughter-in-law, Rita Hayworth.

The Begum said four shabbily dressed men, speaking with Spanish or Italian accent and carrying tommy guns, got away with one 25 carat diamond worth 25,000,000 francs.

Bootleg Boozie Ring Has Million-Dollar Business in Georgia

Atlanta, Aug. 3 (AP)—Georgia's revenue commissioner said today he has uncovered a $1,000,000 bootleg liquor ring "which apparently flourished under state protection."

Revenue Commissioner Charles Redwine said an Atlanta wholesale firm in only six months supplied the $1,000,000 in liquor to dry counties "all over North Georgia."

His agents raided the firm Friday, Redwine said, and seized more than 1,000 sales slips giving names, dates and amounts of illegal sales to bootleggers, social clubs and others.

German Occupation Governor, McCloy, Plans His Cabinet

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—John J. McCloy, U. S. military governor and high commissioner in Germany, is flying to Washington today for conferences on the organization of his occupation staff.

State department officials said that McCloy is bringing with him a plan to establish a cabinet. It would be made up of men who would head the political, economic and other administrative divisions under him as high commissioner.

McCloy has full authority to establish whatever kind of administration he wants. Nevertheless, he is expected to enlist the help of the state department, the army and the economic cooperation administration in working out the final form of his occupation organization and in obtaining the men he wants to fill the jobs.

He is functioning now as military governor. He will give up that title and become officially the high commissioner for the American zone of Germany and the American member of the three power council which will supervise western Germany when the new German government for the western zones is established in a few weeks. At that time the western powers will switch over formally from military to civilian control.

Eastern Timbermen End Strike, Return To Work Monday

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Timbermen who have been on strike in three states for the last six weeks have agreed to return to work on Monday.

The agreement ending the strike affecting 15,000 workers in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland was reached last night—24 hours after a brief flareup of violence in which 14 lumber trucks were damaged at Vestaburg, Pa.

Thomas P. McTigue, regional director of the United Construction Workers, an affiliate of the United Mine Workers, said the agreement restores wages to the level prior to a cut last June 6. The scale will range from $1 an hour for laborers to $1.55 an hour for sawyers.

POLIO KILLS OFFICER
Detroit (AP)—Detective John H. Bancroft, 36, was listed today as Detroit's fourth polio victim this year. He died Tuesday after an illness of six days.

New Agreement Set Up For Settlement Of Greyhound Strike

Minneapolis, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new offer to settle the three months old strike of Northland Greyhound Bus company employees will be submitted to the executive board of the union Friday.

Details of the new agreement were not disclosed. It was reached by negotiators for the bus company and the AFL Amalgamated Bus Employees Union.

A recent company offer to settle the strike was rejected five to one by the 1,300 union members involved. The bus line employees walked out April 27 over a wage dispute. More than 450 buses on the 10,000-mile system were idled in eight midwest states and Manitoba, Canada.

Union officials were unavailable for comment on the new offer, but W. J. Kay, company president, said he expects a favorable vote by the strikers.

Radioactive Isotope Market Has Boom At Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Aug. 3 (AP)—Business is booming in the radioactive isotope market.

The atomic energy commission made the announcement yesterday in reporting that 7,613 shipments of the isotopes have been sent to various institutions here and abroad during the past three years.

Most of the shipments were to researchers in the United States, but 21 foreign countries have received a total of 588 shipments since Aug. 2, 1946.

Radioactive isotopes are ray-emitting forms of such common materials as iodine, phosphorus and carbon. They are important because the rays they send out are used as "tracers" in research that would be difficult to conduct without them.

In medicine, these isotopes are used in the direct treatment of some types of cancer and of certain other diseases. One of their latest uses is to ferret out brain tumors before a surgeon operates.

Food Downs Guests At Rayburn Feed In Washington Hotel

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—There was almost too much to eat last night at a big testimonial dinner given for Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

To start with, there was a buffet in a big room on the lobby floor of the Washington hotel. Here the 750 men at the dinner could serve themselves with salmon, venison, elk, bear, turkey, antelope, coon and possum.

A lot of the guests thought, reasonably enough, that that was all there was. They filled up—only to find that in another banquet room there was awaiting them a real dinner—shrimp, turtle soup, a big juicy steak called "steak Rayburn," three vegetables, a salad, dessert, etc. Some of the double diners just couldn't make it to the end.

Nearly everyone in official Washington was on hand except President Truman, and he sent a message. The host was Frank Boykin, wealthy Democratic representative from Alabama.

Faricy's appointment by Secretary of Defense Johnson is another step in efforts to strengthen organization of the nation's military setup.

BUBBLE TROUBLE COMING—Actress Marilyn Maxwell goes into her "atomic bubble dance" for a cheap night club scene in the forthcoming movie, "Key to the City." It took 1700 balloons decorated with black sequins in atomic symbols, two weeks of rehearsal and four days of shooting to make sure the scene got past Hollywood censors. Marilyn wore a skin-tight flesh-colored outfit under the balloons.
